The Godfrey Church

Monticello is proud to announce that she has regained custody of the Godfrey Congregational Church built for the seminary by Captain Godfrey in 1854. The structure, of value because of its beauty and historical significance as an authentic piece of middle-nineteenth century architecture, will be functional as well as ornamental, Sunday afternoon vespers for the college will be held there. The interior is to be re-conditioned so that it can be used as an auditorium for plays, speakers, commencement exercises and other important events.

Wilifred Amelia Sauer 1919-1938

Wilifred Amelia Sauer came to Monticello in September 1935. Her untimely death in August 1938 prevented her being graduated with her class here represented. Her classmates of 1939 consider it a privilege to have this opportunity to keep ever in mind the memory of one who to the fullest extent shared their devotion to Monticello.

COLLEGE SENIOR CLASS

As always, the senior class has led the others in social and academic activities. To the college play, Elizabeth the Queen, to the Halloween and Christmas festivities, and to the Washington's Birthday Banquet the seniors have devoted their efforts.

Senior "calling" in February sealed the bond of friendship between the two college classes. With the year of accomplishment and progress behind it, this year's graduating class leaves its traditions and best wishes to the classes of the future.

The Class of 1940 made its official bow at the traditional and impressive Washington's Birthday Banquet. This event climaxed a junior year which was made colorful and exciting by a resourceful senior class, and was made to run smoothly by an efficient junior class council. The council was elected early in the year, and consisted of Virginia Hart, Chairman; Betty Hemenway, social chairman; Janet Root, secretary; Ann Caldwell, treasurer; Etholeen Williams, social service chairman.

When the night of senior "calling" arrived, closer relationships were established between classes, and the juniors realized the meaning of another Monticello tradition. The black and gold ribbons had scarcely been pinned in place before frenzied preparations for the banquet were underway. Committee meetings in secret became numerous, songs were practiced, and officers elected.

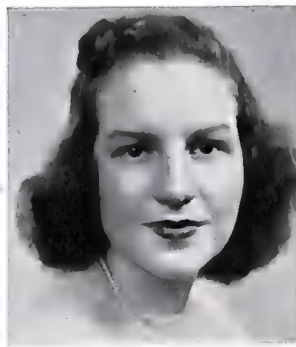

Thus at the Washington's Birthday Banquet the junior year of the Class of 1940 culminated. It can be safely prophesied that its senior year will be marked by service, loyalty, and the originality already displayed.

P. S.

Class motto: "Progress" symbolized by a winged sandal in copper on a royal blue background. Copper suggests endurance and strength; blue stands for purity.

Class flower: Snapdragon.

Class hymn: "O God Our Help in Ages Past."

The years of toil and pleasure, replete with wisdom's gain
Those years of richest measure, that will not come again.

THE PREPARATORY SCHOOL

THE HISTORY OF THE SENIOR CLASS

The first meeting was called on the twenty-sixth of October for the purpose of electing officers. Miss Phyllis Smith was elected president. We are proud to say that Phyllis has been appointed an exchange scholar at the Rodean School, Brighton, England for the year 1939-1940.

The next very important event in our history was the senior dinner in the faculty dining room at which affair we received our class pins. The class president delivered a speech appropriate to the occasion.

On February 26th the seniors entertained their juniors and the faculty in the the faculty dining room.

Next in the social events came our impressive senior dinner-dance.

Our colors are royal blue and white; our flower, the pink sweetheart rose.

THE ECHO COUNTER

The business staff maintains the Echo counter to help finance the yearbook. The counter opens at 4:00 p.m. and at 9:00 p.m. each day, at which times candy, fruits, and soft drinks are sold to the students.

The business staff also sponsors the sale of Monticello jewelry as another means for raising funds.

At the beginning of each year the Echo Board publishes the Monticello College Directory which is sold for twenty-five cents a copy.

THE MONTICELLO TIMES

The Monticello Times is published bi-weekly by a staff of students who are desirous of practical experience in the actual publishing of a newspaper. This year the paper has been a scoop in itself with its larger sheets and feature articles. A staff eager to work traced news, reported news and made news!

THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Freedom commensurate with responsibility . . .

The institution of student government is comparatively recent at Monticello, but its success is pronounced. The purpose of this association is to increase in the student a sense of individual responsibility in upholding the academic standards of the school, and to give official expression to the opinions of the student body.

Its membership consists of all students of Monticello College and Monticello Preparatory School. The association is governed by a constitution, and its officers are a president, a vice-president, a secretary-treasurer, and a social chairman. These officers, together with the chairmen of the various residences, form the Student Council.

The aim of the Student Association is to develop in each of its members a sense of honor, loyalty, and cooperation which will lead to freedom from formal rules and regulations in the future.

MONTICELLO ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

A shipwreck party complete with Robinson Crusoe, his man Blue Monday, terrifying savages, scores of pirates, and even an unfortunate victim of Neptune returning in white robes and a halo for the party, started the activities of the Athletic Association. The purpose of this organization is to promote an interest in intra-mural activities of all kinds. The association sponsors parties, hikes, picnics, and makes available to its members all of the recreational advantages of the campus.

S P O R T S

AUTUMN

Midst the fall of red-gold leaves, made brighter by the setting sun, fly the puck and shuttle cock. Down the field run the white clad figures of the Gold and Black team. Bandanas fly in the crisp October wind; hockey sticks clash, and the shrill treble of the referee's whistle reverberates from the sidelines.

WINTER

The thud of rubber-soled feet resounds as they race across the hardwood floor of the gym—a free throw—a basket—and a cheer from the crowd. Other sports lovers face the net for a clean serve of the volley ball. Then water minded companions splash lustily away in the deep green pool below. A swan, a duck, or a clean jack cuts the water with easy grace.

SPRING

Green trees once more, soft breezes stir the curly locks of a golfer, poised in air—the white ball is sent swiftly down the green with all the smoothness and poise of the arrow that has just been released from the archer's bow. The resounding twang of a tennis ball and racket is carried to the more restful minded members of our clan who are basking lazily in the warm rays of sunshine.

HOCKEY

When Monticello's campus is tintured with color, when the days grow shorter and a little colder, when school has become a reality, it's time to get into real hockey form. The all-school practices are weeks of left-hand lunges, dribbling down the field, and quick drives at the goal. After a few weeks of hard work plus a lot of fun, the college and preparatory school varsities are chosen.

The 1938 season of hockey games opened October 20th with truly competitive playing between Haskell House and East Residence—the latter being victorious. A memorable day in hockey history was College Play Day on November 12th at Urbana. The team profited by its taste of gala university life and first place in the state meet. Monticello's two guest teams of the season were Font Bonne and Principia.

The season ended with one of the most colorful events of the year, the Hockey Banquet on December 2nd. Miss Barbara Smith, Monticello's hockey coach, introduced Miss Marjorie Harowell, member of the United States Field Hockey Team and guest speaker of the evening. With Miss Harowell's exciting account of her many experiences in playing international hockey, a successful season at Monticello officially ended.

BASKETBALL

A quick change in athletic life means replacing shin-guards with tennis shoes, a slightly battered hockey stick with a good long arm, and a hockey ball with a basket ball. Yes, basketball is on and this time Monticello comes to the front with a new and successful plan of organization. The entire student body is divided into two teams, the blacks and the golds, Monticello's colors. This affords keen competition and numerous intra-mural games. The varsities were chosen as always from the all-school practices.

During the winter months inter-class competition was keen and a very successful season was climaxed by an athletic field day in which every student participated. Each type of indoor athletic activity at Monticello was demonstrated—tumbling, the modern dance, social dancing, gymnastics, and swimming. The crowning event of the day was the Black vs. Gold basketball game. Although the Gold team won the final game, the Black team had already piled up enough points to be the season's victor.

THE RIDING CLUB

Membership in the Riding Club, otherwise known as the Hobby Horses, is restricted to the most skillful riders. In October four members participated in the Westwood Horse Show in St. Louis. They were: Joan Burnham, Gayle Foster, Elizabeth Gilmore and Patricia Freer. In April Monticello was well represented in the Maryville Horse Show. Club members participating were: Gayle Foster, Jarvis Schaefer, Patricia Freer, Winifred Gottschalk, Jeanne Henderson, Sally Gage, Harriet Houston, Anne Williams Earle, Anneliese Ickrath, Ann Wallis.

On the annual Guest Day in the spring, Monticello presents its own Horse Show. Besides the regular saddle classes, this program includes drills and novelty classes for which prizes are awarded. The Grand Prize goes to the champion rider of the entire show.

Chief among the activities of the Riding Club are Sunday morning rides on the campus trails, dinner meetings in the cabin and joint meetings with Western Military Academy Riding Club.

This year the club members redecorated the stable tack room as a special project. They were assisted in this undertaking by Miss Katherine Irwin of the art department.

THE DANCE CLUB

The aim of the Monticello Dance Club is to combine technique with inspiration so as to develop a sense of poise, self expression, and freedom of movement. The group is composed of two individual organizations, the Junior Dance Club and the Senior Dance Club. The Senior group consists of the most advanced dancers. These organizations meet once a week and often combine their efforts, particularly during the times when programs are being constructed. The members of the Junior group are qualified for membership in November and again in February.

On March eighteenth the Dance Club presented a series of compositions in a Recital of Modern Dance. Included in this program was a Cycle, composed by the Senior Club, and made up of four separate dances: Uncertainty, Chaos, Affirmation, and Exaltation.

SWIMMING CLUB

Swimming Club meetings are called to order by the president, Caroline Pettes, every Monday afternoon at the pool. The members' strokes are timed once each week and a record of their progress is maintained. The club is trained for the A. A. U. meet in St. Louis. One may become a member of the organization by meeting standard requirements in stroke-form, diving, and endurance. To retain membership, the girls must swim at least four times a month and three times a week to be on the varsity team. There have been three very successful try-outs and initiations this year. The other officers are Betty Wise, vice-president; Phoebe Little, secretary-treasurer.

DRAMATICS AT MONTICELLO

"Lord Essex, take my Kingdom"—and the curtain closed on Elizabeth, the Queen, the first dramatic production at Monticello for the 1938-1939 season. This performance on November 22nd was followed by a second performance on January 13th.

On January 20th the Preparatory School drama class presented a program of scenes from Pride and Prejudice and Little Women. At the same time a one act play, Repentance, written by Jarvis Schaefer was produced.

The month of March was ushered in by the Preparatory School, who carried on the Monticello tradition for four-star events with their excellent presentation of the delightful Mad Hopes. The play was produced by Miss Alspach, with sets by Mr. Chipman. The cast included:

Mrs. Clytemnestra Hope	Phyllis Smith
Geneva Hope	Ann Catlett
Lady Ingleby	Murray Jo Stirton
Claude Hope	Ann McNeil
Henry	Marie Freeman
Hilton Hope	Anne W. Earle
Mr. Klein	Mary Helen Witwer
French Maid	Anne L. Earle
Rene	Mary Louise Treadwell

Visitors at the College on Guest Day in April were entertained with two one-act plays produced by students in play production class. The dramatic department was represented by John Synge's Riders to the Sea, directed by Sonia Wild, and Noel Coward's comedy, Hands Across the Sea, produced by Jean Whitney. Other student productions were The Valiant, directed by Lenore Kahn and The Florist Shop, directed by Deane Mitchell.

The commencement play is presented in May by an all-school cast. This play culminates the dramatic presentations for the year.

ELIZABETH THE QUEEN

Elizabeth, the Queen by Maxwell Anderson was directed by Miss Mary Jane Alspach. The settings were designed by Mr. C. Dean Chipman, and incidental music was arranged by Dr. George W. Beiswanger.

THE MONTICELLO CHORUS

Vespers . . . Sunday at four thirty . . . graceful robes in maroon and white . . . hymn books and praise angels . . .

Director, Guy Miller Snell . . . president, Jean Day . . . librarian, Ruth Wright . . . wardrobe mistress, Charlotte Kinnear. The main activity of the chorus is to provide appropriate music for the Sunday Vesper Service. Any girl who can sing and is willing to give her time for practicing is welcome to join. There are three hours of practice during the week.

Special renditions are prepared for the Christmas Vesper. The "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah was particularly effective this year. On February nineteenth the Chorus was the guest of the Methodist Church in Alton. Mozart's "Ave Verum" was sung as an anthem. Participation in the Baccalaureate exercises at commencement time concludes the choral activities for the year.

GLEE CLUB

To sing for the pleasure found in singing, to develop the ear so as to harmonize three and four part songs easily and well without help from an instrument, and to become acquainted with the vast repertoire of secular songs, are the purposes of the Monticello Glee Club, which has met this year on Tuesday and Thursday evenings immediately after dinner in Miss Hedemark's studio. The easy informality which prevails throughout the forty-five minute period lends itself to the development of good ensemble singing.

The Glee Club, which is open to students from both the Preparatory School and the College, has sponsored several informal "sings" in the drawing room to which students and faculty have been invited. The Glee Club took part in the Christmas Vesper service and featured in the April Misucule where it sang Max Vogrich's arrangement of "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes", "The Lass with the Delicate Air" by Dr. Thomas Arne, and "Color" by Miss Hedemark.

The following girls are members of this group: sopranos—Jean Raith, Anne Louise Earle, Myrtle Cook, Annie McNeil, Elizabeth Gilmore, Phyllis Carter, Charlotte Spang, and Phyllis Smith; second sopranos—Phoebe Little, Ann Catlett, Barbara Franklin, Jo Ann Spiva, and Marjorie Adler; altos—Jane Spindler, Gayle Foster, Hortense Henger, Alice Fitz, and Jane Lamkins.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club has succeeded this year in creating a vast amount of interest in science and has allowed those individuals who possess a love of the scientific to increase their knowledge and experience in this field. Biological and chemical interests alike are treated by this group. Charlotte Kinnear is president of the organization; Barbara Mills, vice-president; Marilyn Milner, secretary; and Barbara Franklin, treasurer.

This has been an unusually active and interesting year for the Science Club members and the rest of the student body as well. Several of the events sponsored by this group have been open to the public. Activities and programs for the year have included a liquid air demonstration by Dr. Rodewald of Washington University; a lecture on naturalism by Reverend Link of Grafton, Illinois, and several movies of a scientific nature.

The club plans to include in its future activities a trip to the Alton Glass factory and a hay-ride in which its members may participate.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUB

Bonjour—

With French, Latin, Spanish and German students vying for linguistic honors, it was no wonder that the Language Club projects were so successful. Aside from its regular club activities, the members sponsored the sale of tickets to the series of movies shown at the college.

According to custom, at Christmas time a French Nativity Play was presented, and Tannenbaum '3", and other songs were sung by the other groups. Also during the year, language dinner tables were established at which the students were given an opportunity to learn idiomatic everyday conversation.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

With a student from England as president, the Monticello International Relations Club has had a very successful year. This club has as its objective the instruction and enlightenment of public opinion. The group makes a study of the underlying principles of national conduct and does not necessarily support any one viewpoint.

The International Relation's Club has sponsored several speakers such as Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, Professor Roland Usher, and Rabbi Isserman.

Miss Norma Adams is the faculty adviser for the group. She has been assisted by Miss Lucretia Ilsey and Miss Emily Whitman.

The Washington Birthday Dinner—The Event of the Year

TRADITIONS

The traditions of a school prove something about it. They are evidence of background; they make the past seem real, and the future important. A year at Monticello is mellowed by the observance of traditions which are rather unique when compared with those of other schools. These are a part of the spirit of Monticello, and will live as long as that spirit lives.

The end of October sees one of the first of Monticello traditions with the iron-handed governing of Juniors by Seniors on Hallowe'en. This is far from a solemn day; and indeed, the traditions seem to grow in importance as the year progresses. Senior "calling" is preceded by the Junior exam, which is conducted by the Seniors and serves to acquaint Juniors with the history of the school. The definite date of "calling" is known only to Seniors, until the ceremony actually takes place at an impressive candle-lighted dinner.

The Washington's Birthday Banquet climaxes the period of Junior-Senior activities. It is given by the Junior class, and marks their debut, with the presentation of their officers, colors, and songs. The seniors add an appropriate and graceful note by dancing the minuet in costumes of Washington's day. The Banquet ends with the singing of the friendship songs, and the intensification of a feeling of class unity.
